Dedication

To you, Miss Egan, we dedicate our class book. We want to confer this honor upon you because we, and many I.S.D. students before us, have always felt sure of your interest in our problems, your pride in our successes, and your affection for us even when we tried your patience.

Some of us will remember you as our teacher; others will remember you as our principal when we were in the Middle Division; all of us will remember you as a friend whose door was always open to us. We remember the happy laughter that surrounded you and your never-ending stock of stories.

As we leave I.S.D. it is fitting that we dedicate this book to one who has contributed so much to the school-day memories we will cherish always. May we often renew our friendship in the years to come.

BOBCATS

Introduction

To the Senior Class of 1958 this book is the fulfillment of a year of planning, work, and fun. We offer it to all who open its covers as representative of the many phases of school life at I.S.D.—from Primary Hall days to the activity-filled days of Seniors.

We are grateful to the school administration, to the Board of Regents, to our advertisers, and to our sponsor, Michel Laurent, all of whom helped to make this book possible.

As the underclassmen read the pages of our Senior Annual, we hope they will be inspired to make the most of their school lives and to keep in mind the truth of this quotation:

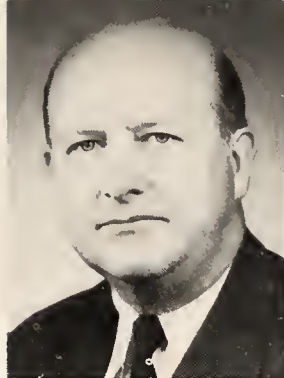

“Silver and gold will vanish away
· But once you get learning, it will never decay.”

CLASS WILL

We, the class of '58, hereby declare this to be our last will and testament. We bequeath our privileges, our possessions, and our peculiarities to the underclassmen with the hope that they will make good use of them.

Donald Van Soelen leaves his enthusiasm for reading and talking about sports to Stanley McHugh, who is already one of our most eager sports fans.

Jens Sorensen bequeaths his tired, old radio to Edward Daggett with the hope that it will continue to play loudly enough to please him.

Sandra Erb leaves her flair for clothes to Patty Carritt, who also loves pretty things.

Ann Lindsay bequeaths to Patty Flannery her ability to find time each day to write to her boy friend at home.

Richard Noble gladly leaves his supply of blushes to La Wayne Beery, with the hope that he will have no further need of them.

John Foxen wills to Bill Hickman his interest in shoe repairing.

Rita Redmond bequeaths her love for watching television to Judy Shepherd.

Arnold Kruse wills his reputation for being a sleepy-head to Howard Kroemer, who also likes to doze.

Doris Beik wills her spot at the window to Dora Bourne so that she may also watch for her boy friend.

Gloria Darrah leaves her dog-eared algebra book to Luetta Christensen, whose favorite subject is mathematics.

Dale Harris bequeaths to Ivan Cox his weakness for girls, especially blondes.

Tom Fuller leaves to another Tom, Tom Seivert, his habit of complaining about homework. Neither was ever known to be in the mood to study.
